ABSTRACT

    A composition and process for electroplating a conductive metal layer onto the surface of a non-conductive material is disclosed. The composition and process utilizes an 5 obvious dispersion traditional carbon black particles and highly conductive carbon black particles. The mixture of carbon blacks provides optimum dispersion and electroplating properties.